

New Zealand born, Austria based tenor Zachary McCulloch has performed in numerous locations in Australia, New Zealand, Italy and Austria.

Zachary completed his studies from the Melbourne Conservatorium of Music and has since performed with companies such as Opera Australia, Victorian Opera, Adelaide Festival, Landestheater Linz and more.

Hailed to sing with “Italianate warmth”, Zachary has a ringing, full-bodied light-lyric tenor voice. Roles include: Oronte in Alcina, Nemorino in L’Elisir d’Amore, Ferrando in Così fan tutte and Turi in Kalman’s Ein Herbstmanöver.

Zachary was a studio artist in the State Opera of South Australia’s Opera Academy in 2021 and is currently a member of the Landestheatre Linz Opernchor.